The schedule for merit badges is similar to classes in a school day. There are five periods scheduled each day, four before lunch and one after. Merit badges are offered during several periods each day but scouts will meet daily at the same time for the same badge over the course of the week. To register, put an "X" in the period box for each badge or activity you would like to work on at camp, but only one badge per period. Some badges/activities require more than one period per day. Some badges/activities have prerequisites or age requirements. Scouts should consider the difficulty rating of the badge and plan accordingly. Scale is 1-10, 1 being easiest and 10 most difficult. The prerequisites listed refer to the merit badge requirement listed in the merit badge book. These requirements may also be found on meritbadge.org.
